1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 The statute governing the modification of conditions of supervised release, 18 U.S.C.
3 § 3583(e)(2), provides that the court may “modify, ... the conditions of supervised release, at any 4 time prior to the expiration or termination of the term of supervised release....”

5 On September 9, 2005, judgment was entered against John Patrick Fizel (“Mr. Fizel”)
6 for his plea of guilty to Bank Robbery, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2113(a). Mr. Fizel was sentenced
7 to sixty-eight (68) months to the custody of the Bureau of Prisons and to a thirty-six (36) month
8 term of supervised release. The Court further ordered that Mr. Fizel pay restitution in the amount 9 of $2,563.00.

10 On January 28, 2010, Mr. Fizel commenced his term of supervised release in the 11 District of Nevada. One of the conditions of Mr. Fizel’s supervised release states that “[i]f this 12 judgment imposes a fine or restitution, it is a condition of supervised release that the defendant pay 13 in accordance with the Schedule of Payments sheet of this judgment.” Docket No. 21. To date, Mr.
14 Fizel has complied with his restitution obligations but believes this condition should be modified.
15 In this regard, the Presentence Investigation Report (“PSR”) explained that restitution in the amount 16 of $2,563.00 was mandatory and due to the Nevada State Bank (“the bank”). See PSR at 5, ¶ 13.
17 The PSR further noted that the Federal Bureau of Investigation (“FBI”) “agents found $2,546.00 in 18 the defendant’s pocket which should be credited towards his restitution.” Id.

19 This Court addressed the issue of restitution at the sentencing hearing on September
20 9, 2005.¹ There, defense counsel explained that the money taken from the bank was recovered. The 21 government agreed and further explained that it had not returned the money to the bank and therefore 22 requested the Court’s order reflect that restitution was due until the money was properly turned over
23 to the bank. The Court agreed to order restitution and stated since the money was recovered it 24 should be held in satisfaction of the restitution obligation once the funds are returned to the bank.

27 ¹ Undersigned counsel ordered and listened to the audio recording from the 28 sentencing hearing held on September 9, 2005. Upon the Court’s request, undersigned counsel can provide the audio recording.

1 Undersigned counsel spoke with Assistant United States Attorney Andrew Duncan
2 regarding this matter. A representative from the United States Attorney's Office, in turn, spoke with 3 Malia Gregory, a representative from the bank. Ms. Gregory confirmed that the bank received
4 $2,511.00 on January 11, 2007, which should be credited to Mr. Fizel's restitution obligation. Mr.
5 Duncan also confirmed that the FBI charged a $35.00 fee for issuing the bank a check. Thus, Mr.
6 Fizel was obligated to pay a remaining balance of $52.00 towards his restitution. To date, Mr. Fizel
7 has paid $336.25 . Ex. 1. He has overpaid his restitution obligation by $284.25 and is entitled to a
8 refund. The government also agrees that Mr. Fizel has fulfilled his restitution obligation and is due
9 a refund. Consequently, Mr. Fizel requests this Court modify his terms of supervision to reflect 10 satisfaction of his restitution.

11 CONCLUSION

12 In summary, Mr. Fizel respectfully requests this Court modify his condition of 13 supervised release to reflect that he has satisfied his restitution obligation.
